Christie Leads Corzine 47%-42%

According to the most recent poll by Fairleigh Dickinson University's PublicMind™, Republican Chris Christie leads Democratic incumbent Jon Corzine by 47%-42% among likely voters in the race for New Jersey governor. Another 6% say they are unsure.

"The most important difference between these two candidates right now is in the support each one gets from his own party's voters," said Peter Woolley, a political scientist and director of the poll. Among Republicans, Christie is preferred by 85%. Meanwhile, Corzine gets the support of 73% of Democrats. "That is an improvement from his earlier, tepid support, but still lagging," said Woolley.

The governor has not convinced Democrats that the state is headed in the right direction: about half (49%) say it's on the wrong track while 38% say it is headed the right way. Among Democrats, 29% have an unfavorable view of their nominee, compared to 12% of Republicans who have an unfavorable view of their nominee. Just 8% of Republicans have a favorable view of Corzine, but 19% of Democrats have a favorable view of Christie and 18% say they'll vote for him. Among all voters, 37% say their view of Corzine is favorable, while 54% say their impression is unfavorable. Similarly 37% approve of the job he's doing and 52% say they disapprove.

There are some notable undercurrents working against Christie as well. Voters who have an unfavorable opinion of Christie jumped sharply to 35%, up from 25%. "This is the expected result of an increasing volume of negative advertising," said Woolley.

Moreover, Corzine has improved on secondary measures. Asked which candidate is better described as "honest, trustworthy," the candidates now essentially tie (31% Corzine, 32% Christie) but Christie had been the clear leader, 33%-24%, in the previous survey. In addition, Corzine continues to lead on the question of which candidate "has the background and experience to be a good governor," by 45%-32%, essentially unchanged from 42%-29%. He only continues to lag on the question of which candidate better "understands the concerns of the average person." He loses to Christie 30%-43% on that measure.

Independent candidate Chris Daggett is preferred by 1% in the survey which did not mention him by name, but allowed respondents to volunteer him or any other preference. Two thirds (67%) of likely voters say they've never heard of Daggett, an improvement from the nine of ten who said in early summer they had never heard of him, but another 20% say that while they've heard of him they have no opinion of him.

Similarly, 65% have not heard of Loretta Weinberg, the Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor, while another 19% have heard of her but have no opinion of her. And more than nine of ten (93%) have not heard of or have no opinion of the Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor, Sheriff Kim Guadagno.

"The Republican appears to be in pretty good shape headed into Labor Day," said Woolley. "The question is whether he has peaked while Corzine still has voters to win over."

The Fairleigh Dickinson University poll of 715 likely voters statewide was conducted by telephone from August 24, 2009, through August 30, 2009, and has a margin of error of +/- 4 percentage points.

Methodology, Questions, and Tables

The most recent survey by Fairleigh Dickinson University's PublicMind was conducted by telephone from August 24, 2009 through August 30, 2009 using a randomly selected sample of 715 likely voters statewide. The margin of error for a sample of 715 randomly selected respondents is +/- 4 percentage points. Survey results are also subject to non-sampling error. This kind of error, which cannot be measured, arises from a number of factors including, but not limited to, non-response (eligible individuals refusing to be interviewed), question wording, the order in which questions are asked, and variations among interviewers. PublicMind interviews are conducted by professionally trained interviewers use a CATI (Computer Assisted Telephone Interviewing) system. Random selection is achieved by computerized random-digit dialing. This technique gives every person with a land-line phone number (including those with unlisted numbers) an equal chance of being selected. Results are mathematically weighted to match known demographics.

Question: Now, turning to New Jersey... In your opinion, do you think things in New Jersey are moving in the right direction or do you think the state has gotten off on the wrong track?
